

June 25, 2009

Cassa, New York by Ten Arquitectos (scroll down to read more)

Architecture overview: The utopian dream

This time next year, condo residents and hotel guests will be moving to this new Manhattan address. The Mexico City-New York architects have created an alternating pattern in the façade through their positioning of the windows. As well as aesthetics, this 500ft tower has function: a restaurant, spa, private terrace and lounge. After 25 years in the business, this is surely Enrique Norten at the top of his game.

www.ten-arquitectos.com